Moving Forward with Person Centered Services in Maryland

The Person Centered Plan is replacing the Individual Plan, community based services are replacing day programs... with such changes underway, you may wonder about the underlying vision of Person Centered Services. Learn about this and how families can advocate for their loved ones.

Joanna Pierson, Ph.D. is Executive Director of The Arc Frederick County, which provides innovative, person centered services. She is a Fellow and Past President of the American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AAIDD) and a professor at the University of Maryland School of Social Work.

The Coach Approach to Support

Supporting growth in independence for people with developmental disabilities has traditionally focused on skills training. With the Coach Approach, asking someone what should happen and how can be key. Developed as an interactive training for direct care staff, this approach is valuable for families and advocates alike. Beth Greenland, PCC, Coach Approach Partners, and Monica McCall, Ph.D., Executive Director of Creative Options adapted this empowering approach to support for people with disabilities.
